Ford OK's Guaranteed Pay Idea Local Workers, Weekenders Urge Change

Detroit Paper Says Action 'Unprecedented'

Report Declares Firm To Set Up $55 Million Fund For Employees

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. has accepted in principle the United Auto Worker union's guaranteed annual wage demand, the Detroit News reported today.

The newspaper, saying it had learned this from "a high union official," reported that the Ford offer entails a $55 million fund "unprecedented in industry."

"It appears to represent some of the thinking of both Ford's previous 'partnership in prosperity' offer and the union's guaranteed annual wage plan," the News said.

"It accepts the principle of providing for a Ford employee while he is out of work—the principle on which UAW President Walter Reuther insists."

The News said this was the gist of the Ford offer as it obtained them from the union source:

"Payments based on a percentage of each weekly payroll will be made into the fund."

"UNDER THE plan, when a Ford worker is laid off he would draw his customary state unemployment compensation."

"When he had exhausted these state benefits, he would begin drawing from the company's job security fund. The size of the weekly checks from the fund were not disclosed by a union official."

State unemployment compensation payments vary widely between states. In Michigan the average state payment to an unemployed worker is $30.13. The national average is about $25.

The UAW, in its widely-publicized guaranteed annual wage plan, has been trying to get the auto industry to commit itself to pay idle workers 80 per cent of their normal pay.

60 Polio Cases Found Among Salk Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today that 60 cases of polio, at least 42 of them paralytic, have been reported in family and other contacts of persons who have been given the Salk polio vaccine.

The number of cases reported among vaccinated persons is 114.

In testimony at a congressional hearing last Friday, Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said he thought it was possible for a parent or anyone else in close contact with a vaccinated child to contract polio as an indirect result of the inoculation, even though the inoculated child does not.

The health service's weekly report listed 240 new confirmed and unconfirmed polio cases over the nation during the week ended May 28. This is slightly under the corrected figure of 247 for the preceding week but is higher than for any corresponding week in the previous five years.

The total of 240 compares with 236 in the similar 1954 week, and an average of about 135 for the corresponding week from 1950 through 1954.

The 240 new cases brought the number reported since Jan. 1 to 2,290, compared with 2,686 in the corresponding 1954 span.

For this "disease year," the total was 1,226 through May 28, compared with 1,133 in the same 1954 period. The "disease year" begins about April 1 for polio, about the time of its lowest incidence.

Miss Vonna Bach New Deputy Here

Miss Vonna Bach, who graduated from Monroe Township High School last month, has been appointed a deputy in the Pickaway County clerk of courts office here.

She replaced Miss Betty Boardman, who resigned to become a deputy in the county auditor's office.

Miss Boardman, who had been first deputy to James Mowery, had been in the Clerk of Courts office since 1947.

Fliers Tell Of Their 2 Years In Communist Chinese Jails

HONOLULU (AP)—Four American fliers, chipper and gay despite more than two years of Chinese Communist brain-washing attempts, rejoice in their families today.

Nine of their closest relatives, collected from across the United States in an Air Force plane, were scheduled to land at Hickam Air Force Base today.

The airmen—Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Capt. Harold E. Fischer, Lt. Roland W. Parks and Lt. Lyle W. Cameron—told of their prison experiences at a press conference last night a few hours after they arrived from Hong Kong.

They talked freely but balked on two points—whether they signed a confession to win their freedom and whether their planes crashed during the flight.

"The warning was clear. It may have been why the men talked little of their worst experiences and much of the lighter side."

The men themselves indicated there was still "40 or 44 American nationalists still in China," possibly including some Navy personnel. They said they had heard of a Navy plane shot down.

In Washington, the State Department said it believes the Chinese Reds hold 63 Americans.

Heller, who limps from injuries he received in bailing out of his plane, spent two years in a Chinese hospital. Fischer had 11 months in solitary confinement.

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Senate is expected to cut the state's share of poor relief funds for the next two years.

The size of the slash isn't clear yet, but it could be as much as $2½ million, Tom V. Moorehead (R-Muskingum), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, indicated today. That would reduce the state's relief spending to $29 million in the next two years.

The state welfare department asked for $35 million; Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche trimmed that figure to $31½ million. The House approved that amount.

Moorehead said there are two reasons for the impending slash:

1. Real relief needs, with efficient administration, are lower than Lausche's budget request.

2. The state needs every cent it can shave from Lausche's budget for other things, principally schools.

The Republican-controlled Senate began a field investigation of soaring relief costs two months ago.

IT CONCLUDED some relief standards are too high; that many big city relief agencies can do adequate jobs with less money.

In 1953, the Legislature appropriated $17 million for the state's share of poor relief in the two-year period which ends June 30. But because of the 1953-54 business dip, another $8½ million was added to make up a deficiency in state funds to match the relief

Stevenson Said 'Eager' To Run

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is eager to run for President again and will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination if he is convinced the party wants him to run, a source in a position to know Stevenson's plans says.

The former Illinois governor was described as "willing to give it all he has" and confident that the Democrats can win even if President Eisenhower runs again.

Stevenson is not expected to make any announcement before November. Friends say he believes it would be better to wait for the party to indicate a preference.

Bus Crash Kills 18

LIMBURG, Germany (AP)—A bus plunged out of control down a mountainside and into a tree about 15 miles north of Limburg yesterday, killing 18 German women tourists and injuring 18 others.

NEW DELHI (AP)—A British team was reported today to have conquered 28,146-foot Mt. Kanchenjunga, the world's third highest mountain.

in Chinese or Korean territory.

They said they "played along" with Red attempts to brain-wash them and pleaded guilty to Communist charges of "intruding China" and "provocative attack."

But, they insisted they remained unaffected by the Reds' attempts to sell them on communism.

Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, Pacific Air Force commander, struck a sober note. He said: "We have four men here. There should be 15. Please keep that in mind."

Smith referred to 11 other American fliers still held captive by the Communists. The implication was that anything the four might say might be used against the 11.

Adlai Urging More Federal Health Activity

Medical School Aid, Research Said Big Needs In Nation Now

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today the federal government should help to subsidize worthy private health insurance programs, step up its aid to medical research and provide for assistance to medical schools.

Stevenson, former governor of Illinois and 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, was a speaker for the formal dedication of the $10 million Medical Science Building of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center.

Stevenson cited what he called "the developing public attitude" that "methods must be worked out for making medical service better available to all who need it, and this without crippling cost to anyone."

In pleading for "an acceleration" of the medical research program, he said:

"It seems a little strange that the Department of Agriculture will spend this year for research on plant and animal diseases ten million dollars more than the Public Health Service is spending for research on cancer, arthritis, mental illness, neurological and heart disease combined. This just doesn't make sense."

"THE MOST promising approach to the problem of distribution of medical service," he said, "lies in the development of voluntary, private, prepayment health insurance programs."

"It is an important element in this prepayment insurance development."

Witch Doctor Held On West Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police are holding a man they say claims to be a witch doctor.

Officers said Florentino Morales, 54, has been treating ailing Los Angeles residents with an assortment of equipment including black candles, effigy dolls, silk scarves and plaited hair switches.

He was arrested after an ailing housewife said he agreed to cure a pain in her chest for $300 with a treatment including a candlelight ritual dance. Morales was jailed for practicing medicine without a license.

The woman, Mrs. Gertrude Banuelos, 42, is in a hospital. Her ailment has not yet been diagnosed.

Big 4 Talk Seen Last Chance To Avoid Catastrophic War

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Nixon today said the Big Four conference could be the world's last chance "to avoid a catastrophic war."

He asserted the Russian representatives to the parley "will be on trial before the whole world, including their own people."

Nixon, featured speaker at the final session of the annual convention of Rotary International, devoted most of his remarks to the forthcoming meeting between the heads of state of the U. S., Russia, France and Britain.

He said the people on both sides of the Iron Curtain want peace, and leaders of the free nations will go to the conference with peace as their objective. He added:

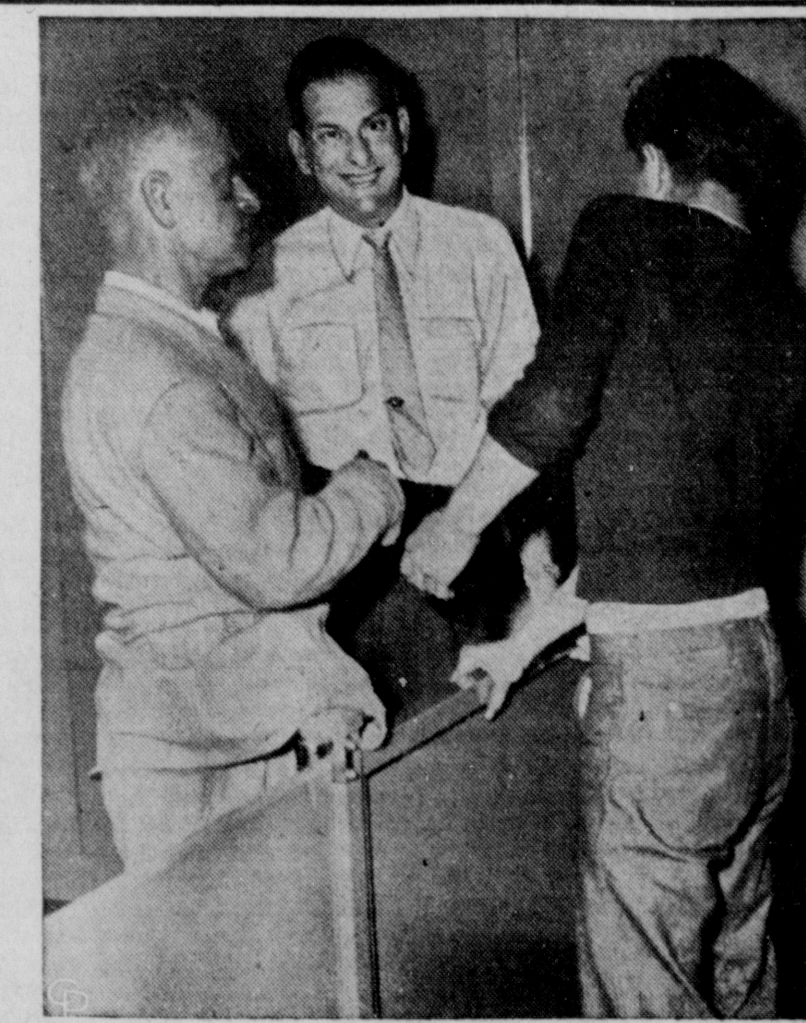

"People everywhere will be asking: Have those who scuttled, obstructed and sabotaged previous conferences changed their ways? Have they renounced their previous policy?"

"WILL THEY agree to a settlement which will recognize the right of individuals to be free, nations to be independent and all peoples to be free from aggression?"

The vice president said the conference may show "whether negotiated peace is possible or whether the danger of nuclear war is to hang over us for generations."

"This conference," he said, "could be the world's last chance to settle difference peacefully and avoid a catastrophic war."

Nixon also sounded a wary note: "We must assume from their past conduct that the recent conciliatory actions of Communist leaders represent a change in tactics rather than a change of heart. It is the standard Communist tactic to retreat at times for the purpose of being better able to move forward toward their announced ultimate goal of world domination."

3,000 Prospectors Ready For Big Rush For Claims

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A uranium stampede reminiscent of California's roaring gold rush days is expected to hit Kern River Canyon, 40 miles east of here, tomorrow morning.

Predicting an "explosive situation," Sheriff Leroy Galyen has ordered 75 armed deputies into the canyon today. They will confiscate all firearms.

Up to 3,000 prospectors may swarm into the area to stake a similar number of 20-acre claims when the land is opened for staking at 10 a. m. The area comprises some 60,000 acres.

Already located there are two mines. One consists of the Kergon claims, held by the Great Lakes Oil and Chemical Co., and the other is the Miracle Mine of the Wyoming Gulf & Sulphur Co. Miracle has shipped more than $4,000 worth of uranium 308. It is California's richest uranium strike.

Miracle also has been stockpiling ore pending settlement of a claims dispute which has resulted in widespread confusion among prospectors.

After uranium was found in the area, fortune hunters rushed in with the same enthusiasm which marked the search for gold a century ago. Stakes were driven all over the rough hillsides, which form the west flank of the Sierra.

And then it was discovered that the land had been withdrawn from the public domain some 30 years before, at the request of the Southern California Edison Co., to become a power reserve. Prospectors immediately sought the assistance of the Atomic Energy Commission.

They were successful and the area reverted to public domain. For a time it was believed that the claims already staked would be validated. But the Bureau of Land Management ruled otherwise.

This meant that the stakes must be driven all over again, to remove the stigma of trespassing, and it is the reclaiming process which will start tomorrow.

FBI Chieftain OKs Use Of 'Informers'

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today described confidential informants in law enforcement work as "helpful citizens" and "potent weapons" in the war against crime.

"There can be no doubt that the use of informants in law enforcement is justified," he said. "The public interest and the personal safety of these helpful citizens demand the zealous protection of their confidence."

"Unlike the totalitarian practice, the informant in America serves of his own free will, fulfilling one of the citizenship obligations of our democratic form of government."

He asserted that to abandon use of such informants would be "to invite destruction."

Hoover expressed his views in a signed editorial in the monthly FBI's law enforcement bulletin.

He made no direct reference to some renewed criticism of the confidential informant system which followed the recent action of former communist Harvey Matusow and other ex-Reds who have appeared as government witnesses in recanting their testimony.

The federal government is currently defending in the Supreme Court its asserted right to protect sources of confidential information in reviewing employee security.

Girl, 8, Found Brutally Slain

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—An autopsy showed today that little Jeannie Singleton had been raped, beaten and apparently choked to death by a sex deviate.

The bruised body of the 8-year-old school girl was found late yesterday in a lonely pine woods 15 miles north of Kalamazoo.

Jeannie, left lame by an attack of rheumatic fever four years ago, was last seen 10 days ago resting on a curb a half block from her home on her way home from school.

New Policy, Starting July 1, Result Of Long Study Here

Beginning July 1, all of Circleville's stores will be open Friday nights. This will be the first major change in the city's merchandising picture since days of the Circle from which the community's name was derived.

Prompting the change to new hours for shoppers was recognition of the need for better accommodation of both rural and city trade. Several of the city's industries have Friday paydays, and workers have repeatedly asked for Friday night opening to permit them to do their shopping ahead of the Saturday rush.

Many farmers, too, have recommended Friday night opening. Rural residents seek advantage in the move because of a lessening of the week-end crush. They expect easier and quicker access to merchandise.

The Friday opening has been under consideration for almost a year, but it was only recently that a poll of merchants showed a majority definitely in favor of the move. The move is a well-studied one aimed at better service for the general public.

In addition to being open Friday nights, some of the city's leading stores will be open Saturday nights as in the past.

A SPOKESMAN for the city's retail merchants said: "We believe we are on the right track with this undertaking. The idea evolved out of changing times and customer demand."

"The time when the farmer had a single shopping day each week is past. Once he came to town just one day a week and that day was Saturday. He bought all of his necessities, his operating and maintenance equipment at that time. Now he visits the city and buys as he needs regardless of the day. He and his family are frequent visitors in town. Regardless of this fact the Saturday buying rush continued to be a big problem for the merchant wishing to provide real service for his customers. This move, we feel, will go a long way toward lessening the week-end problem."

"For a long time we considered ways and means of making shopping easier for our rural customers who provide the bulk of the merchandising dollars. Out of this recognized need grew the program to be put into effect July 1."

"We feel confident that both the rural and city residents will find the new program greatly to their advantage and liking."

Threats Costly

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed a bill to make threats against the vice president and a President-elect, as well as against the President, punishable by a $1,000 fine and imprisonment up to five years.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"PRIZE FIGHTER KNITTING" This Droodle was given to me by Bob Olin, the retired pugilist who runs a restaurant in N. Y. I like to eat there because Mr. Olin lets me give him tips on self-defense. I used to box myself on a Y.M.C.A. team in Chicago and at the time I was noted for my footwork, until the referees made me stop kicking. But my specialty was my Secret Punch. My opponent never saw it coming, because I cleverly waited until the bell had rung and he'd turned around to go back to his corner before I unleashed it. I got so good with this punch nobody would get in the ring with me unless they had a rear view mirror. Just think, if I'd kept on with my boxing I might have owned a Restaurant myself.

opment that it represents a private, nongovernmental answer to a problem requiring group action. "Certain barriers to its development must be broken down. In half the states there are restrictive laws, passed in haste, which prevent responsible private groups of doctors and patients from working out the effective prepayment plans they consider best.

"And it is recognized, fortunately by the leaders of both political parties, that some degree of government assistance in developing this new program is necessary."

Such assistance, Stevenson said, should be in the form of "long-term, low-interest-rate loans to new prepayment groups and to subsidize part of the cost of comprehensive service to groups including some whose financial means are limited but whose medical needs are no less great."

"And it is imperative," he said, "that discussion for improved distribution of medical service not be frustrated by the familiar shouts of socialism that bedevil all forward steps in our country."

Urging federal aid to medical schools, Stevenson said:

"The expressed concern was about federal domination. But research in these schools has been subsidized by many millions of dollars of federal grants without a hint or whisper of domination."

Police Destroy Marijuana Field

CHICAGO (AP)—Cook county police used flame throwers yesterday to destroy a 10-acre patch of nearly ripe marijuana in suburban Lemont township.

Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman said the marijuana was not growing wild, but had been cultivated. He said the growth, if harvested and made into cigarettes, might have been sold to addicts for as much as $1 1/2 million. Lohman said the patch had been under surveillance for nearly three weeks by deputies seeking to trap the grower.

He that believeth shall not be in haste.—Isaiah 28:16. God and not man rules the universe. We should talk less and listen more. We should ask for wisdom, and then wait for guidance. Often our prayers would injure us greatly if they were answered just as we make them.

Capital University announced today that Larry Wing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Wing, of 438 E. Franklin St., has been awarded an honor scholarship.

Wing competed with 286 contestants representing a nine state area. His outstanding performance in high school and in the competitive examinations qualified him for this exceptional recognition.

Wing is planning to enter the Arts Engineering curriculum and is looking forward to beginning his preparation on the Capital University campus in September.

Wing graduated with honors at Circleville High School this Spring.

Romulo 'Wary' Of Red Moves

COLUMBUS (AP)—Carlos Romulo, Philippine envoy to the United States, says he believes "we should be wary" of Red China's release of four U. S. airmen.

He said "We don't want to be caught by a series of apparent conciliatory moves . . . and then suddenly be placed on the defensive."

Detroit Paper Says Action 'Unprecedented'

mal gross earnings for as long as a year, less any state unemployment payments he might receive. The union met this morning with Ford negotiators and this afternoon with General Motors.

With the emphasis in the auto industry negotiations previously on Ford, the imminence of a showdown with GM led to speculation that both major auto firms were equally under the union's fire.

The union pledged in granting the Ford contract extension to Monday, that the UAW would stage strikes in all 57 Ford plants then if there was no "satisfactory" settlement.

The union still was pressing its guaranteed annual wage demand calling for year-around pay for workers laid off in slack production periods. Ford's first counterproposal to this demand was a combination offer to permit workers to buy Ford stock at half price, borrow during enforced idleness and get severance pay upon discharge.

Carl Stellato, president of Ford's biggest local at the huge Rouge plant here, told a workers mass meeting yesterday afternoon that Ford had bettered this offer, but he declined to reveal details. He said a half dozen union economists were trying to evaluate the new Ford proposal.

THE NEW FORD offer was reported in other quarters to contain a plan for the company to augment present state unemployment compensation payments to furnish workers with continued income during periods of idleness in slack production periods.

On one point, amid loud cheering from the estimated 20,000 Rouge plant auto workers, Stellato said the UAW was adamantly against any renewal of a five-year contract.

"We're not going to delay the fight for the shorter work week for five years," Stellato said. The UAW has said its next proposal, after the year-around pay plan, is reducing the present 40-hour work week without loss of pay.

Stellato asked the Ford plant demonstration for a show of sentiment between the UAW's guaranteed wage demand and the Ford plan to allow company workers to buy Ford stock at half price.

The crowd of workers booed the company stock-purchase plan and cheered loudly for a guaranteed pay plan.

A secrecy agreement between UAW and Ford negotiators prevented any explanations of those talks, but this did not apply to the union negotiations with General Motors which have been idling along behind Ford, but may take on a new importance because of the closeness of the Ford and GM strike deadlines.

Polio Vaccine For 200,000 Kids Released

WASHINGTON (AP)—First shots of Salk polio vaccine were available today for 200,000 more school children and the Public Health Service said new supplies "will be coming progressively available."

The service announced last night the release of 200,000 cubic centimeters of unused vaccine previously distributed by Pittman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind., and Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa.

That amount, once cleared, had been held back from use since May 7 when inoculations were halted for a safety check.

The release was the first since May 15, when supplies previously distributed by Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis were cleared a second time. Similar action had been taken on May 13 on vaccine made by Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

"From this point forward," the Health Service announcement said, "vaccine supplies will become progressively available under the provisions of the revised standards for vaccine production and testing announced last Friday."

No date was given.

The service did not say where the released supplies were located.

Action Nearly Final On Drug Bill

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio House yesterday virtually completed action on a bill to impose long prison terms in Ohio's stepped up war on illegal narcotics.

With only one dissenting vote, the House passed the Senate-approved bill drastically increasing penalties for drug peddlers, especially those dealing with minors. House changes in the Senate bill only increased the penalties approved by the Senate.

At the same time, the House Judiciary Committee voted 21-1 to postpone indefinitely further consideration of a proposal to change Ohio's utility rate-making formula. Such committee action usually kills a bill.

Friends And Flowers Fill Each Day For Mrs. Bartley

Despite the fact that both her legs are amputated and her hearing "ain't what it used to be," Mrs. Sarah Rambo Bartley still has a cheerful outlook on life at her 92nd milestone.

"Lots of people wave at me when they go past the house," she said, "I just can't get around so much anymore, so all I can do is wave back."

Mrs. Bartley, who lives with her son and daughter-in-law at S. Clinton and Ohio streets, was 92 last Sunday. The well-wishers have been coming and going at all hours of the day since the birthday party, and the cards and letters continue to pile high.

For Mrs. Bartley, with her inspiring philosophy in the face of misfortune enough to break a weaker soul, the past will always be something to treasure. The present is filled with things of interest. And the future promises still more days to enjoy.

SHE IS perhaps best known over a wide section of the city because of her devotion to the flowers that surround her life at the

Bible School Opens Series Of Classes

The Daily Vacation Bible School under the joint sponsorship of Trinity Lutheran Church and the First Presbyterian Church began this week with worship services held by the Rev. Carl Zehner and the Rev. Donald Mitchell.

The school is divided into two departments, the primary department (ages 4-6) which has its total program in the Presbyterian Church and the senior department (ages 9-15), which uses the facilities of Trinity Lutheran Church.

First day of the Bible school was attended by 308 young people. Assisting were 35 teachers and helpers.

The program for these young people centers around the theme of a total Christian life developed in the areas of work, worship, education and play. To promote this program, religious material has been provided, along with handicraft projects which include such items as bead work, basket weaving, leather carving, TV lamp construction and ceramics.

One of the major projects is that which is carried on by the 6th and 7th grade boys. This group has set for its goal the staging and production of a marionette show "The Pied Piper." The boys are making the marionettes and plan on having their show ready for presentation on "family night" June 16.

OSU Student Hurt In Hit-Skip Mishap

An Ohio State University student was hurt early Tuesday morning in a hit-skip accident on Route 23 in the northern part of Pickaway County.

Hugh G. Brown Jr., 26, received cuts on his head and hands after being thrown from his car. He told Deputy Sheriff Bill Plum that a semi-truck going in the opposite direction side-swiped him.

As the truck was headed towards Columbus, Franklin County authorities were contacted. But no trace was found of the truck.

Brown had been traveling south on his way to his hometown of Ironton.

Marilyn And Joe On Friendly Date

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn and Joe had another date last night, but it doesn't necessarily mean that Miss Monroe is about to become Mrs. DiMaggio again.

"We're just good friends," DiMaggio said. "We do not plan to remarry. That's all I care to say."

He took Miss Monroe to a preview of her new film, "The Seven Year Itch," at a Times Square theater and then gave a party in honor of her 27th birthday at a midtown restaurant. The couple was divorced last Oct. 27 after a 10-month marriage.

small Southend home. She used to grow them for sale, and "used to get good money for them, too." Numerous also are the stories of her quiet acts of charity, and little efforts of kindness for her legion of friends.

Amputation of Mrs. Bartley's legs became necessary due to a circulatory ailment. She underwent the first operation after she was past the age of 80, and the second only in recent years. Doctors and hospital attendants voiced amazement at her powers of recovery.

Glasses? "I got 'em, but I don't use them," she shrugs. Too much bother, especially when you can see the flowers and the faces of your friends without them.

Her teeth, Mrs. Bartley chuckles, have dwindled to a durable two. But she manages "three good meals a day."

Born in Jackson Township in 1863, Mrs. Bartley still likes to boast that she always played with the boys. "I love the boys because they're rough," she explained. "Girls are too sissy."

MUCH OF the credit for her long years she gives to her hard life on a farm through girlhood. "I've only been sick twice in my life," she insists. "The first time, when I had diphtheria, my pappy had to sell a horse to pay for the doctor and medicine."

Mrs. Bartley was the eldest of eight children; the other seven were all brothers. She only had one child—the son with whom she lives—and two marriages.

But she "adopted" others. One girl stayed with her from childhood until a suitor came and asked Mrs. Bartley to consent to the girl's marriage. And who would stand in the way of romance?

2 Doberman Dogs Slay Mistress

TOMS RIVER, N. J. (AP)—A 64-year-old woman was found dead near her summer cottage yesterday, the mangled victim of her two Doberman Pinscher dogs.

State police said the two animals apparently turned on Mrs. Winifred W. L. Bacon and killed her. One of the dogs is male, the other female.

Mrs. Bacon's left arm and shoulder were ripped, and authorities said the male dog's mouth and face was covered with blood.

The reason for the attack on Mrs. Bacon, who was a resident of Pemberton, remained a mystery. She had owned one of the dogs for four years and the other for two.

Hashmall has served a little more than two years of his 1-10 year conviction in Akron for false automobile registration. He now is accused by the federal government of conspiring for the violent overthrow of the government.

Ex-Treasury Chief Denies White Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Morgenthau Jr. has told Senate investigators that during his long tenure as secretary of the Treasury he had no reason to suspect that Harry Dexter White was a Soviet spy.

Morgenthau was a witness yesterday before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The portion of his testimony made public after the closed-door hearing dealt with White, a former assistant secretary of the Treasury, now dead.

Atty. Gen. Brownell asserted in a speech Nov. 6, 1953, that former President Truman promoted White early in 1946 after the FBI notified the White House that White was a Soviet spy.

Truman accused Brownell of "cheap political trickery." He said he had permitted the promotion of White to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund so that White and others accused as spies could be watched.

In subsequent hearings before the Internal Security subcommittee, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover testified that he had not agreed to such an arrangement and that it hampered the FBI's watch.

Morgenthau, who left the Treasury before White's appointment to the monetary fund post, said "no security agency, and no individual, ever reported or suggested to me that there was any doubt about White's loyalty."

Ohio Senate Expected To Cut Poor Relief

spending by cities and counties. That made the 1954-55 total $25 1/2 million.

Said Moorehead of the planned cut in 1956-57 relief appropriation: "Total poor relief costs in Ohio increased 50 per cent from 1952 to 1954; in the same period costs of medical and hospital services for poor relief recipients increased 100 per cent."

"A study reveals that wide variations exist throughout the state in standards of relief granted and in local policies of administration. The results indicate greater efficiency in administration and stricter policies are possible, which, if adopted by all local welfare agencies, would make possible a dollar saving without reducing service to the needy."

"The reduction that is possible in hospitalization costs added to the other areas of relief administration where costs could be decreased (for example, the payment of debts for relief recipients) would result, it is estimated, in a considerable saving to the state from its relief matching funds."

Ex-Postmaster Put On Probation

COLUMBUS (AP)—U. S. Judge Mel Underwood today placed the former postmaster at Magnetic Springs, William McKittrick, on probation for two years. McKittrick was charged with using some post-office funds to make a personal payment.

This was found out the next day during a postoffice inspection and the money was replaced. McKittrick had taken office last January.

The judge took into consideration letters from McKittrick's friends urging probation. He was told that one reason McKittrick took the postmaster's job was that he needed to increase his income.

Let's All Go Shopping!

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE
Home Demonstration Agent
Farm Extension Service

Fruits and vegetables have long been valued for their pleasing taste and for the variety and flavor which they introduce into the diet. Too often, when shopping or planning for shopping, they have been regarded as luxuries rather than as essential foods.

Nutritionists urge a liberal use of fruits and vegetables because their mineral and vitamin content is needed to supplement that of other foods (chiefly grains, meats and sweets) which bulk large in most diets.

We are almost completely dependent on fruits and vegetables for our intake of Vitamin C or ascorbic acid. They can be, if used properly and regularly, nature's best and most economical health tonics.

The realization that more than 50 fairly common vegetables are available makes us realize our neglected opportunities in the matter of variety in selecting vegetables. Some vegetables are "confused" with fruits but there is also a wide variety of fruits available.

OHIO IS a good source of these essential constituents of our daily basic seven diet. From now until November, homegrown fruits and vegetables are in large supply with many products from which to choose.

Producers, the food trade and consumers benefit when people are informed about peak supplies of locally produced food.

Homegrown fruits and vegetables usually provide the best quality and greatest quantity for the money. They are excellent for home freezing and canning.

It pays to keep informed about seasons for these products since some are in peak season for a very short time. Locally grown products can be purchased in grocery or produce stores or at roadside markets, which ever best satisfies consumers' needs.

The homegrown products appearing in most markets this week are: asparagus, green onions, leaf lettuce, parsley, radishes, rhubarb, spinach, greens, greenhouse tomatoes, cucumbers and watercress. Ohio grown cabbage, peas, head lettuce and strawberries will be on the market within two weeks.

A RECORD crop of strawberries is forecast with the Ohio crop indicated to be up 63 per cent. The acreage is the same but the yield forecast much higher. The best things can come in small packages if we have an insight into the nature or quality of the contents.

In general, the varieties of cabbage harvested in spring and early summer contain more ascorbic acid than the late maturing varieties. Green leaves tend to be higher in Vitamin C than white leaves. Some parts of the head generally discarded in preparation for table are rich in ascorbic acid — for example, the core and outer leaves.

When shopping for cabbage, look for "other" cabbage varieties. The red or purple kind has been found to be rich in ascorbic acid. The Chinese cabbage has elongated celery-shaped heads of crisp green leaves. Miniatures of the cabbage family are Brussels sprouts.

The next time that you shop for fresh fruits and vegetables, take a critical look at that head of lettuce, tomatoes and oranges you are putting in your market basket. In all probability you may have handled five to nine of each before the final selection was made.

Consumers with their squeeze and punch method of selection have put the squeeze on the grocer in the form of losses due to deterioration and waste. The answer to this problem has come in packaging. The cost of packaging is more than offset by the substantial savings effected through reduction in waste and spoilage losses.

A USDA packaging expert estimates that about 30 per cent of all produce is now packaged in consumer sized containers. This trend toward consumer-sized packaging is related to the strong trend toward self-service in food stores. Packaged fresh foods helps the consumer who is serving herself these days, shop faster and easier with better quality and more sanitary foods.

Sales of fresh fruits and vegetables continue to grow in spite of the competition of processed foods. Many canned foods are increasing in price because of scarce supplies or smaller crops of foods to be canned this year. The 1955 vegetable planted acreage is 3 per cent under last year.

It pays to take advantage of those foods in large supply and relatively low priced. Applesauce, plums and pears are outstanding canned fruit buys. Pineapple and grapefruit juice, green beans, corn

Son Of Countess Cited By Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury yesterday indicted Robert H. Schlesinger, 37, son of socially prominent countess Mona Bismarck, for fleeing three businessmen of $330,000 in phony oil deals. Schlesinger was accused of bilking two retired Milwaukee department store owners and a Los Angeles automobile man in stock swindles by representing his wealthy mother as being interested in certain oil deals.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kremlin's present rulers seem to be trying hard to show they're different from their old boss, stolid, stubborn Joseph Stalin.

This may go far to explain why the Russians of late have been acting moderately and even cooperatively, as they did in letting Austria have independence.

They probably figured it was time for a switch, that they could catch more flies with molasses than vinegar. Stalin was a real Vinegar Joe.

He got Russia into a dead end. With his inflexible harshness he forced the Western allies into rearmament and unity, the last thing Russia wanted.

Three of the top Russians, visiting Yugoslavia under the eyes of Western newsmen, act like go-getting businessmen admiring a competitor's establishment.

They examine a Yugoslav factory and commend the amount of cement that was used to build it. They say publicly their own Russians depend too much on steel.

Their performance to date—in public—has been a combination of visiting firemen, jolly good fellows and cousins to the Yugoslavs.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, Russia's Communist party boss, gaily explains to an Associated Press reporter why he talks so fast: "Life is short. Live it up."

While their flat tire is being fixed, Khrushchev and Anastas I. Mikoyan, deputy Premier, have a friendly wrestle in the fields in full view of onlookers.

If the West has obtained one clear insight from the visit of Khrushchev, Mikoyan and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, it's this: Khrushchev is the real boss of Russia.

This was the first chance Western observers have had to see these leaders in public day by day and in varying situations and watch for signs of leadership.

It was Khrushchev, head of the Russian Communist party, and not Bulganin, head of the Russian government, who did most of the talking.

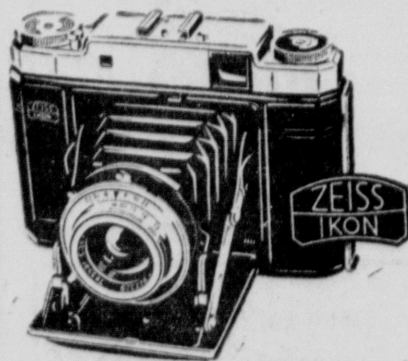

Stalin, fixed in his ways, moved ahead by plunging forward like a bull. He never seemed to change. And almost every time he moved he made new Western enemies. That sardonic, seldom-smiling man must have been hard to take, even by his intimates.

There can be no doubt Khrushchev and the others want precisely what Stalin wanted: a Communist world. The difference between Stalin and his successors is not in aim but in tactics.

The new Kremlin men are trying to appear better natured and more reasonable. If in that way they can soften up the West and weaken the alliance, so much the better for them. If it doesn't work, they haven't lost anything.

It's possible the Russian leaders have decided that a hydrogen bomb war would mean disaster for everyone and that therefore they had better try to get along with the West without war, although still not abandoning their long-range goal.

But that has to be demonstrated by their future actions. They haven't done much more than talk yet. It's possible they've decided the obvious dictator type, like Stalin, is old fashioned and has to be replaced by smoother methods.

Man Now Used To Holdup Men

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Edward Wright, 76, knew exactly what to do when two men entered his little confectionary Wednesday night and announced "this is a holdup."

Wright wearily hoisted his arms in the air and watched while they took $22 from the till and ran out the door.

Wright's store has been held up five times in the last two years.

But the wind missed everything else in the yard of Donald E. Magennis.

Petals on rose bushes in the yard were unruffled.

FIREFLY BALLET

WHILE BATTALIONS of gray shadows creep down the hills and bivouack in the valleys, while mountain peaks glow in the rays of the setting sun and day's light fades in the western sky, the fireflies unhesitatingly begin their evening ballet over lawn and garden. At first only a few dancers appear, making introductory dot and dash orange streaks against the deepening dusk. Then as darkness thickens and the first faint white-gold stars break through the overhead curtain, the main troupe of dancers arrives, and the ballet gets into full swing.

A few dancers climb high, trailing orange-green sashes behind them; a few perform individual solos at the outer edges. But the main body stages an intricate dance above the lawn. For one moment they converge in a tightly-knit group; then they separate and make strange patterns of dots and dashes over a larger area.

There are some 2,000 species of the Lampyridae family on this globe. Some species have a wing spread of several inches; there is one species in Paraguay with a green light on the side of its body and a red light at the rear. Scientists have been studying the amazing heatless glow for many years and still do not understand completely why this insect's light is so efficient. Technically, it is luminescence without incandescence.

But as a farm family sits on a screened porch on warm June evenings, it is not necessary to know the scientific facts in order to enjoy the ballet. Somehow, when day is done and shadows have fallen, it brings welcome peace to heart and soul to listen to the small sounds of night scratching against the dark curtain, and to watch the loveliness of the firefly ballet as it performs its ancient dance to the gods of the summer night.

CHICKEN FOR FATHER

FATHER, WHO has learned to expect little from observance of his special day of the year, can now anticipate the event with pleasure, provided he happens to have retained a good appetite through the years.

On Father's Day, June 19, he will be assured at least a dinner of fried chicken, if plans now being completed by the Poultry and Egg National Board materialize. In behalf of increased consumption of chicken the board insists the best possible treat for the man of the house on that day will be chicken, fried or broiled.

In case Father doesn't care for chicken, he will not find it necessary to go hungry on that day. The American Meat Institute and the National Live Stock and Meat Board are promoting a "Beef for Father's Day" project, backed by a vigorous publicity campaign.

June being Dairy Month, the menu would not be complete without milk and butter and perhaps whipped cream for the strawberries.

Father, of course, will contemplate all this in his usual calm manner. He is never one to complain of the cooking. In his book the lady of the house is the best cook in the world. Whether the cuisine will include beef or chicken, or both, he will be well fed.

But it's nice to have the boys thinking of him, even if it is only to promote their own commodities.

Food has declined in price 15 per cent in the last year. Does this mean that those on a diet must exercise 15 per cent additional will power?

These Days

LONDON — There are no laws governing banking in Great Britain. There is not a single act defining what a bank is or what it should do or how it should be operated. British banks do a world-wide banking business without anything like our Federal Reserve System or our State banking laws. The Bank of England is chartered to do certain specific things and a few of the older banks have charters which give them privileges but place no particular restrictions upon them. The Bank of England issues the nation's currency.

There are no banking departments with hordes of inspectors to go over everybody's accounts to see that the bank is properly managed. No authority exists which can prevent a person from heading a banking firm. There are no little people prying into big affairs which are too enormous for their imaginations.

There are no office-weary counsel to banking departments who badger bank managers to conform to their small ideas as in our country. Here it is all done on the basis of a kind of co-operative confidence. Besides, if a man makes good he might get a title which is worth more than money.

So I asked what do they do if a bank gets shaky. I was told that they would hear about it in the Bank of England or in the Treasury and that sound men would get together to straighten things out. The bank would undoubtedly be rescued, if it could be, and there would be a change of management. But it would all be voluntary without force, without inspection, without a horde of bureaucrats.

It is the same with a business firm. The controls which we, in the United States, feel are absolutely necessary to keep men honest, do not exist here at all. The British, in that sense, avoid weakening their democratic processes by passing so much legislation that freedom is forgotten. The rule here seems to be that anyone can think of a new law but is it necessary? And if there is no necessity for it, the law is not passed.

I asked what would happen if a bank fell into the hands of a crook, and the answer was that if a man were really a crook he would have to show his hand and after that there would be nothing for him to do but to get out.

About 74 percent of the world's gold supply is mined in countries within the British Commonwealth, principally South Africa. Therefore, the gold market is now an open one in London, although the Gold Exchange is little more than a committee meeting. Nevertheless, it is an open market and gold is dealt in. The United States, with the largest hoard of gold in all the world, still does not permit trading in gold. It is hoarded at Fort Knox.

No one here seriously advocates, however, the return to the gold standard. It would be altogether impossible unless the United States returned to the gold standard (Continued on Page Ten)

CORPORATION CONTROL

IN RETIRING as head of Montgomery Ward and Company, Sewell L. Avery yielded not only to age but to the growing custom of outsiders to battle for control of corporations. Clever operators can often create issues that sound plausible to stockholders with proxies to vote in annual elections.

The American corporation is taking on the complexion of a political organization with periodic campaigns involving allegations and personalities. Accused of overly-conservative policies, the Montgomery Ward management is being reorganized to sit more firmly in the saddle.

Raids on corporate management by interested outsiders who buy stock for that purpose could go too far by substituting demagogic leaders with little grounding in appreciation of classical business methods which are basic to successful operations within the American system.

Unions, with growing command of investment funds, might gain control of many corporations and introduce methods that would sharply alter free enterprise concepts at present accepted as valid.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
LONDON waited until the Boss went in, and then she carried her bags out to the taxi, got in. Once she looked back at the house. I wonder if I shall ever be able to come back? A sting of tears closed her eyes. She pressed her fingertips hard against her lids. In one way or another, since coming home, she had hurt everyone she loved most in the world. And Scott? She had hurt Scott, too. Tomorrow, when her note and the ring and the pearls were delivered to him, he would be hurt again. Or maybe this time he would be angry and injured, and relieved at being rid of her. She wished she could believe that, but she couldn't, knowing Scott. Scott loved her. The thought was oddly comforting. It made her feel not quite so lonely and lost.

As dawn came, thinning out the sky, Scott Wylie looked out the plane window. They were gliding downward, over New York for a landing.

Last night, around 10, Rowena Hatch had called him. "Scott," she had said, "I am worried. London is gone."

"Gone?" he echoed blankly. "Dora Hendrix is here. She wakened me. She thought it queer. London calling her in a panic, and her luggage piled on the porch, and going off in a taxi. What do you make of it, Scott?"

So she has run away, he thought. No real solution, but the usual one when things coil around you in an endless rope and life becomes unbearable. He said, "Eric is at Breck, is he?"

"Yes," he said. "I don't know how to tell you this, Scott. Or whether I should. London is unhappy. She is terribly unhappy."

"Yes," he said. "I know." "I thought you would be the one to find her—and bring her back. It's best. Really, it is best. Tell her I said that, will you—if she'll come back, Scott?"

"I'll bring her back," he promised.

He hung up, dialed the railway station. Next to the medics and the ministers, the station agent knew as much about everyone in town as anyone. Yes, he informed Scott. He knew Miss McCrae. Yes; she took the night train to New York.

"What time is it due in?"

The agent told him, and Scott thought, "I'll catch the night plane."

Try, Stop Me

One of the stories that, judging by the number of times it's been submitted, must be among the most popular extant concerns the old man explaining the secret of seventy years of serene, fight-free married life.

"Driving home from our honeymoon," is the ancient's story, "my mare stumbled. 'That's once!' I noted. Then it stumbled again. I said grimly, 'That's twice!' When she stumbled a third time, I pulled out my gun and shot her dead."

"My new wife got mighty riled over that and bawled me out plenty. I just sat there quiet till she ran down. Then I said, 'That's once!'"

"Son, I ain't had a bit of trouble with her since."

The masthead of a newspaper is the last place you expect to find a humorous story, but the Adirondack Enterprise, in Saranac Lake, N. Y., defies convention by using this space for the injunction: "Drive carefully; you might hit a subscriber!"

--By Hal Boyle

Only once has Mary let a guest get away. One morning she went to pick up Ava Gardner and found the film star had moved out the night before without leaving word of her new address.

Her toughest assignment was to find Alexander Kerensky, head of the Russian provisional government in 1917, the morning Premier Stalin died.

"All we knew was the street he lived on," she recalled. "So I started pushing strange doorbells. He didn't have his name on his doorbell, but I finally found him."

and be there ahead of her. Now he had only to fill in time until London's train was due in at Grand Central.

He saw her, and his heart started pounding a heavy, slow beat of compassion and love. Her young face, with its haunting look of loss and worry, tore at his heart. Yet somewhere inside this hurt creature, he knew, was courage. Courage to face the world and herself again.

He stood a moment, watching her weave an aimless path through the crowd. Then he could keep still no longer.

"London," he said. He stepped forward, calling again, "London!" She stood staring at him, her mouth half-opened. When she finally managed to speak, her voice was low and incredulous. "Scott!"

They stood there, blocking the path of people who good-naturedly jostled around them. Scott took her arm. He smiled. "Have you had lunch?"

"N—no."

Nor breakfast either, he surmised. "Come along," he said.

She held back.

He said, "I'll check your bags. Give me your stubs."

She was too tired to argue.

"You wait here," he said. "Don't run off, will you?"

"No."

"Think of a place where we can have lunch. Somewhere quiet, so we can talk. All I know are the high spots for tourists."

She knew a place on a side street off Lexington, three steps down, called Hank's. Beyond the bar were a half dozen booths at the back of the room. Through the door you could see the kitchen, and the chef standing before a charcoal brazier and a row of hanging copper pans. There were checkered cloths on the tables, and a feeling of friendly warmth and good humor.

They sat down and Hank came over for their order. "Miss McCrae!" His voice was rich with welcome. "Long time no see. Your friends said you had left town."

"I've come back," she said. She introduced Scott.

Hank went to get their food, and London said, "I live quite near here in an apartment house on a side street. I came here to eat."

Hank brought the food and left them.

"You flew, of course," London said.

"Your grandmother phoned me."

He bent to her, holding her eyes steadily. "Have you tried getting over it? Have you tried not loving Eric? Even once? Do you really want to get over it?"

She shrank back from him. "Stop. Stop hammering at me."

He groaned. "You're so terribly sorry for yourself! It makes me boiling mad."

She leaned back and stared at him, lips tight.

"I fail at everything, don't I? Even running away."

"You can't run away, London. You are coming back with me," he said.

"No. No, Scott."

"Your grandmother asked me to tell you she thinks it best. She knows about us, all of it doesn't she?"

"Yes."

"Why did you suddenly have to go? We had it all worked out. Why, with no good-bys? Your grandmother was hurt. Merry-o will be hurt, and Maggie, and Eric."

"I seem to do nothing else but hurt people," she said. "Besides, you are wrong about Merry-o. I don't know how she knows about me, but she does. She thinks her own secret thoughts, locking me out. And Eric—" She hesitated.

"Yes," he prompted. "Eric?"

She lifted her eyes heavily. "After yesterday, he—he will want me gone. I would only be miserable now with me in his house."

"No-o!" He made it two-toned, broadly ironic. "Don't tell me Eric woke up and found out you've been in love with him all this time! Don't tell me he finally broke through his smug, inviolate intellectual aura and saw what was happening to you under his nose."

Her eyes widened reproachfully. "Don't, Scott."

"You know," he said, "you are having a whale of a time, in your own way, suffering."

"Scott!"

"I never could work up a lather of sympathy for those mid-Victorian gals who dwindled and pined over a lost love."

"If you think it is funny—"

"No. Only tedious. And futile. Love should fulfill itself by growing. When it degenerates into a shadow—seen only in some secret mirror, with subdued brilliance, and shifting planes—it is no longer love. It's a fetish."

"That is a terrible thing to say," she whispered.

He bent to her, holding her eyes steadily. "Have you tried getting over it? Have you tried not loving Eric? Even once? Do you really want to get over it?"

She shrank back from him. "Stop. Stop hammering at me."

He groaned. "You're so terribly sorry for yourself! It makes me boiling mad."

DIET AND HEALTH

Diet May Be Cause If You Have Hives

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE allergy known as hives is frequently caused by sensitivity to certain foods.

It's an easy matter for doctors to diagnose the disorder. Intense itching generally is the first symptom, followed by the appearance of swellings on the skin. The swellings vary in appearance from small pinhead spots to areas as large as a dinner plate, and they contain fluid.

Come and Go

Ordinarily, crops of hives come and go. The lesions remain in one area for several hours and then disappear only to reappear elsewhere. The lining membranes of your mouth, stomach and throat may also be affected by the painful swellings.

There are various methods of treatment. First, your doctor must determine what is causing your allergy. While dust and pollen sometimes are responsible, the cause of hives usually can be traced to foods.

Simple Diet

I would suggest you eliminate the following foods from your diet at the first sign of hives: Cheese, chocolate, mushrooms, onions, tomatoes, eggs, pork, citrus fruits, melons, fish (especially shellfish), pickles, garlic and alcoholic beverages. Sometimes hives can be blamed on wheat, milk, nuts, certain fruits and vegetables. Your diet should be simple and low in proteins.

If your case of hives is attributed to foods, your doctor may suggest you take castor oil or an enema to relieve a fresh outbreak. This usually is followed by a dose of sodium bicarbonate to irrigate the colon.

He may then prescribe cortisone or hydrocortisone. Both have produced good results. Epinephrine injections, lime or calcium preparations are also of value.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. M.: What causes blood pockets in the first layer of the skin on the arms?

Answer: This is probably what is known as purpura. A person with this condition should consult a physician. Have a careful check-up, including a complete examination of the blood so that the clotting time, bleeding time and the number of blood platelets, which help in the clotting of the blood, may be determined.

Unique Job: Guest Finder

NEW YORK — In the antic, frantic world of television there are many odd jobs.

Pretty Mary A. Kelly, who is regularly kissed by a chimpanzee and recently rubbed noses with a $750,000 horse, has one of the oddest. She is a "guest finder."

Miss Kelly, a rugged, bountifully built young lady with Irish red hair and hazel-green eyes, is a feature editor and writer on Dave Garroway's "Today," an NBC network morning program. But one of her chief chores is to rout famous guests from their beds in time to appear on the show.

"Four out of five days I have to be up by 5 o'clock," said Mary. Usually she knows the night before the guest she is supposed to meet.

But sometimes the studio phones her at 4 a. m. to tell her she is to pick up Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at her hotel, go down the bay to get comedian Jerry Lewis off an incoming liner and steer him through customs, or race out to the airfield to meet a missionary just released from Communist China.

On one quest, finding the hotel elevator unattended, Mary stepped in and operated it herself, managing to hit the right floor after a few misses. On another, a hotel detective, seeing her sitting in the lobby, asked her mission, and Mary replied: "Trying to pick up a guest."

This seemed to confirm the detective's worst suspicions. "It took a phone call to the network to straighten that out," said Mary, laughing.

Miss Kelly, who started as a typist for a Hartford, Conn., insurance firm, came here at 19 and landed a job as a newspaper copy girl. Later she worked for a feature syndicate before going into television.

Only once has Mary let a guest get away. One morning she went to pick up Ava Gardner and found the film star had moved out the night before without leaving word of her new address.

Her toughest assignment was to find Alexander Kerensky, head of the Russian provisional government in 1917, the morning Premier Stalin died.

"All we knew was the street he lived on," she recalled. "So I started pushing strange doorbells. He didn't have his name on his doorbell, but I finally found him."

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I've never discussed my problem with anyone and I've never heard of a similar case, so I don't know whether it is unique.

I come of a large, wonderful, happy family. I married a grand man and had a perfectly normal marriage for 10 years; then he died suddenly. After a few years I married again. My daughter and I both love this man very much, but after three years there are aspects of our marriage that puzzle me.

When we were first married (his first marriage) we bought a house. As he is an only child, his mother, a widow, came to live with us. I welcomed her and really felt that we could all be happy together.

Soon I learned that the house is in my husband's and his mother's name—just as if I weren't his wife. Also that his bank account and bonds are the same. I've spoken to him about this, saying it's not the money I care about, but I consider it an unusual arrangement that makes me feel like an outsider instead of a partner. He explains that his mother lent him money, so that he wouldn't need a bank mortgage—thus he thought it only fair to make these arrangements.

Inlaw Calls Her Hand

Mike's mother (I'll call her Mrs. X) is naturally disagreeable. I've decided after three years. I've tried all the ideas derived from your columns and from books, for getting along; but I don't think she will ever change. Once when I tried talking to her plainly she said "If you don't like it, why don't you get out?" And that is her attitude.

I am thinking of leaving. I have a small income and can work and easily take care of my daughter. Of course we shall be terribly lonesome without him, but I can't

Arbitration Move Shunned By Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen, turning down the National Railway Mediation Board's proposal for arbitration, says it will take a strike vote.

The brotherhood is seeking 28-cent hourly pay boosts for firemen working a 40-hour week on the nation's major railroads. Present hourly rates were not available.

Brotherhood President H. E. Gilbert said his union could not accept the proposal because the railroads "have taken an adamant position" and "failed to make any offer designed to dispose of the controversy."

The Constitution requires that the Chief Justice of the United States shall preside at impeachment proceedings against a President of the United States.

Expert's Slant

A first-rate mother, fairminded and socially mature, doesn't hog a wife's place in her son's life. If he marries, she accepts the readjustments in her life with good sense and good courage, and educates husband and wife to count on themselves (and each other) primarily, to provide the building materials of mutual security.

If help is needed that she can provide, she either gives outright, with no strings attached, or she lends in a businesslike way, neither expecting nor requiring more than businesslike return in due time. She treats the pair as a unit, while matter-of-factly recognizing her separate status, comparatively, in the overall relationship. This Mrs. X won't do.

In your reading for guidance, have you encountered Dr. Edward A. Strecher's book "Their Mothers' Sons" (Lippincott)? The author, wisely sympathetic to all sides of the "mom"-triangle, comes to much the same conclusion as you—namely, that marriage under a "mom's thumb is incompatible with mature-type self-respect. Thus the forthright remedy is to get out.

If you go, for justified reasons, Mike may finally see the light and follow. If he doesn't, you will have double proof that he is helplessly, umbilically tied to his mother, hence incapable of making a meaningful marriage.

Acrobat Squeezes 8 Years Education Into 3 At College

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Margaret Gregory, who spent her early years riding a unicycle in her parents' vaudeville act, will be graduated from Syracuse University Monday after squeezing eight years of education into three.

"I never had a chance to go to school," she says. "We were just never in one place long enough. But mother did her best to teach me the three R's."

When the red-haired collegian gets her bachelor of arts degree, it will culminate three busy years in which she has completed normal four-year courses in both high school and college studies.

Miss Gregory, 32, was born in Petersburg, Va. and for 15 years was part of the family bicycle acrobatic act.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef will be the most popular feature in the nation's food stores this weekend.

Most often mentioned as a weekend feature was chuck roast, with some markets shaving prices around six cents a pound from a week ago. Round roast and various kinds of steaks will be specials in a number of areas.

Legs of lamb will be on the weekend good buy list in some stores, but elsewhere prices will be unchanged or a bit higher.

Frying chicken prices are generally higher. Increases of two to six cents a pound are planned by a major chain.

Eggs also may be a few cents higher in your market. Butter prices will show little change.

Good buys in vegetables, include yellow and green squash, peppers, escarole, pascal celery, and nearby items such as spinach, radishes, and green onions.

Beets (mostly with tops), asparagus, carrots and onions also are worthwhile purchases, in the opinion of produce specialists. Heavy shipments of California long white potatoes and Florida round whites have brought lower prices. Old crop potatoes are selling for about the same as a week ago.

Los Angeles Shuns Pastel Streets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal that Los Angeles paint its streets pastel colors such as pink and mauve was made to the City Council by Miss Elizabeth Black, retired general manager of the Municipal Arts Department.

She said this would beautify the city, cut down the glare from blacktop streets and thus reduce accidents.

The City Council Wednesday took a short look at the $50,000,000 expense involved and rejected the proposal.

Yale Alumni Club Said Violator Of Lottery Ruling

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A Yale alumni club has been ordered arrested on a charge that it operated a lottery of a fund-raising outing. A retired state Supreme Court justice won a new car in a drawing.

State's Atty. Albert S. Bill, a Yale man himself, charged Wednesday night that the Yale Club of Hartford drawing was illegal because of a state lottery law strongly upheld in 1938 by the Supreme Court justice who won the car.

The outing was held in Simsbury May 18 to raise money for a Yale scholarship fund. Retired Justice William M. Maltbie bought a ticket to the outing but did not attend. He said he did not know there would be a drawing. He plans to sell the car and give the money to the Yale Scholarship Fund, he said.

Violation of the lottery law is a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $100 or a year in jail or both.

Boy Scout Given Praise By Railroad

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad officials have commended a Chicago Boy Scout for having possibly prevented a wreck in Wisconsin over the Memorial Day weekend.

Robert Munk, 13, and members of his troop were camping at Devil's Lake, near Baraboo, Wis., when a violent windstorm struck.

They found a large heavy tree lying across tracks of the Chicago and North Western Railway and noticed a train approaching.

Robert tore off his red neckerchief, ran a half mile down the track and flagged down the Dakota 400 streamliner.

Newspaper Gals Win Their Way, No Longer Mere 'Sob Sisters'

Old Cris, managing editor of one of the nation's biggest morning papers, died about 10 years ago. But hundreds of the scribes he helped launch in the profession still recall his down-to-earth advice and philosophical slants on the ways and worries of The Fourth Estate. The following article, third in a series, is based on his line of thinking. It may prove helpful to Pickaway County boys and girls who are considering newspaper work as a career.

Almost every year, it seems, more and more girls are finding good spots for themselves in newspaper work. The day when a newspaperwoman was a rare sight yielded long ago to the feminine touch.

The gals are found now, not only in their traditional society page stronghold, but also in many of other main writing jobs, including those dealing with general news. They frequently handle the old-time "sob-sister" angle as sidelights for general news of the day, but they likewise can be found on almost any kind of routine assignment.

Top-flight women columnists and special writers draw fat salaries, and so do most of those who win their way into department head jobs on the big metropolitan dailies. They usually seem to get a big kick out of their regular news work, but some of them also find it an excellent stepping-stone to more or less related jobs elsewhere.

Despite the fact that they are usually expected to take care of their own story when they compete with men reporters, let it not be said that feminine charm is always overlooked when little city room favors are available in the way of news tips, free tickets, help on individual stories, choice assignments, etc. Furthermore, they brighten the scenery in any news shop on a dreary Monday. Even the copy boys are usually around when the girls want them.

In gathering "news," it is one of the most natural rookie jitters to worry about getting "all the facts." Experience and the habits it will develop take care of most of the problem on any given story. Nevertheless, even the old-line professionals often swear at themselves when they discover, back at the office, that they have neglected to check an important detail. In such cases, don't be too proud to call back and ask for the information.

Or, if that isn't possible, admit that you just forgot to get it. Chances are you won't forget the same detail when the next similar story comes around.

Meanwhile, the old-fashioned rule of who-what-why-where-how-and-when can take care of most newcomers on their first assignments. Later, you will be guided along the same line instinctively.

More than one cub has written out those key questions on the back of his hand, lest he forget in the excitement. And when you have plenty of time before an assignment, don't be a hot-rod and try to keep the outline of a big story in your mind. Jot down a few notes to remind yourself on what you want to ask, and what angles should be developed.

Q. Is a boy who has taken only a journalism course expected to know as much, from the very beginning, as somebody who has graduated from a regular journalism school?

A. Of course not, and anyway the average boss waits to see for himself what you know and—more importantly—how fast you can learn. Some editors prefer new men who have not attended a journalism school. Such graduates, they claim, too often have set ideas that prove hard to revise the way the boss wants them.

Beginners in newspaper work should be prepared to learn that a fair-sized portion of the public misunderstands the newspaper's role in community affairs. Too often it is regarded merely as a tool to be used whenever desired for individual purposes.

Even the well-meaning often forget that a newspaper, at least in this country, is actually a business concern which is dependent chiefly upon advertising for its life. Newspapers are dedicated to the cause of community service, but this dedication is voluntary—adopted by the profession itself.

Newcomers in the trade will meet many people who feel a newspaper is obligated automatically to individuals and organizations. They forget the "voluntary" part. And they forget too that the newspaper always reserves the right to decide what is and what is not "community service."

There are subsidized papers, but they are relatively few and far between.

Eisenhower Asks Austria Pact OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has urged the Senate to ratify promptly the Austrian independence treaty, calling it "an important triumph" for freedom.

The President sent the document to the Senate with a special message. He said signing of the treaty at Vienna on May 15 "emphasized clearly the significance of Western unity to the future of free men in every part of the world."

Eisenhower said the treaty represents "the culmination of an effort by the Western powers extending over a period of more than eight years to bring about Soviet agreement to grant Austria its freedom."

HOW TO MAKE AN OUTDOOR GRILL

Here is a cooking grill that is quite simple to build and yet is really attractive in an open setting. Two open boxes or forms without tops are nailed together of 12-inch lumber to the dimensions given in the illustrations. These may be altered, of course. GAS IS used now for drying at the alfalfa dehydrator plant of the Farm Bureau Cooperative, two miles west of South Bloomfield. John Forst, of Groveport (left), manager of the dehydrator plant, and Harry Metier, of Circleville, Ohio Fuel service foreman, inspect new installation.

NATURAL GAS SERVICE has been extended to homes at South Bloomfield and Millport as a result of completion of a $47,000 pipeline project by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company. Meters like the one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rinehart, at South Bloomfield (above), are now being set by gas company service men. Harry Metier, of Circleville, Ohio Fuel service foreman (left), explains operation of the meter.

2 Communities Added To Gas Firm Service

Work has been completed on an Ohio Fuel Gas Company pipeline project extending natural gas service to South Bloomfield, Millport, and to the alfalfa dehydrator plant of the Farm Bureau Cooperative, two miles west of South Bloomfield.

James W. Cole, local manager for Ohio Fuel, announced today that gas has been turned into the lines leading to and throughout the two communities, and to the dryer plant. Workmen are now setting meters in individual homes preparatory to providing them with service.

Natural gas pipelines were extended to the two towns after requests from town councils. Surveys by Ohio Fuel indicated that service would immediately go to some 30 homes and business places in Millport and about 48 in South Bloomfield, according to Cole.

The Farm Bureau plant will use gas for processing throughout its drying season, from May through October.

THE NEW supplies of gas which Ohio Fuel began receiving from Louisiana fields last year are now making it possible for many Ohio industrial plants to use additional natural gas for heat treating and processing, Cole pointed out. As a result, some Ohio industries are expanding their plants, and new industries are being attracted to Ohio, he added.

Extension of service to the two communities and the plant cost Ohio Fuel more than $47,000, the company's local manager said. It involved laying nearly 5 1/2 miles of pipeline and installation of pressure regulating facilities at each of the two towns, plus pressure and measuring equipment at the plant.

Work on the pipelines started in late March. Some 3 miles of 3-inch line was built from a connection with the Ashville supply system to a measurement site on Farm Bureau property. To distribute gas through South Bloomfield, 7,900 feet of 2-inch line was built, while 1,300 feet of 3-inch distribution line was used in Millport.

Construction work was by contractor B. A. Gundelfinger of Johnstown, under supervision of Ohio Fuel distribution department men.

Violence Is Good Theater, Actor Cornel Wilde Claims

HOLLYWOOD — Violence in Hollywood films has been hit from all sides. Here's one man who defends it.

He's Cornel Wilde, actor, producer and now a director. He starred in and helped produce "The Big Combo," one of the films which brought forth a wave of protest about too rugged action in movies. Recently he directed himself in "Storm Fear." You can gather from the title that it is not a gentle subject.

"You can't get away from violence in drama," he said. "When you have two people in conflict, it is bound to result in violence, either in words or action. If you do not have conflict, you do not have drama."

"There is nothing new about violence in the theater. Oedipus Rex is certainly a violent play, and it has withstood the test of centuries."

"Shakespeare is replete with violence. Look at 'Hamlet.' The stage is littered with corpses at the end of the play."

When Orson Welles did King Lear on TV, they showed an eye gouging. I was shocked by it, but not repelled. It was good theater."

Wilde admitted that the decriers of Hollywood had a case—"when violence is presented for violence's sake. If a brutal scene is shown for no reason except to shock, then it is bad. I think 'The Wild One' was an example of meaningless violence."

"The Big Combo" was criticized in England and elsewhere because of a scene in which gangster Richard Conte tortured Wilde. Conte put a hearing aid in the hero's ear and played a radio loudly. Wilde defended the scene as being subtle and less brutal than the senseless beatings in many films.

The answer to the problem is you, the movie goer. If you get a thrill from brutality on the screen, it will continue. If you think the studios have gone overboard on violence, they will tone it down.

The ruler of Hollywood is still the ticket buyer.

Tennessee Gas Asks Hike In Its Rates

WASHINGTON — The Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston, Tex., has submitted to the Power Commission arguments in support of a wholesale gas rate increase in 12 states.

The increase, amounting to $8.616,000 annually, applies to wholesale rates to 70 customers. It was requested by Tennessee Gas Nov. 3, 1954 and has been in effect since Dec. 15. If the boost should be disapproved by the commission, refunds will be made for the period the higher rates have been in effect. Ohio is one of the states.

Nevertheless they have stabilized the pound down to the New York-London cross-rate of $2.80 to the pound and it stays there with no fluctuation. It is not likely that the position of the pound will improve or that any effort will be made to improve it. Nobody is in a hurry about that.

It is easier to understand the attitude of the British toward international affairs when one realizes that they have a voluntary but co-operative society. A business man pursues his own judgment with fewer restrictions here than in the United States. It is for this reason that so many Britishers believe that ultimately American firms will organize an increasing number of British companies through which to operate their export trade.

They have groups of businesses here that operate together and some of our American-owned British companies may find ways of doing business that way. Cadillac

Has Its Own Vocabulary!

Over the years there has come into being what amounts virtually to a special Cadillac vocabulary.

Certain words and phrases have so long and so often been used in association with Cadillac that they almost automatically call the car to mind.

When the talk is of motor cars, who can hear the word "prestige" without thinking of Cadillac?

It is likewise true of "distinction" . . . of "luxury" . . . of "pride of ownership" . . . of "satisfaction" . . . of "comfort" . . . of "long life and dependability" . . . of "beauty" . . . of "impressiveness" . . . of "value" — and of dozens of other words used to denote superiority.

In a sense, these are Cadillac words — and they actually sound strange when employed in any other connection. Even when used in the promotion of another automobile, they still suggest the "car of cars."

Naturally, words like these can become inseparable only from a product which deserves them. In this case of Cadillac, it has taken half a century of the strictest adherence to the highest automotive standards to win this public approval.

Eternal vigilance is the price of this reputation.

Most people, of course, realize that these wonderful words apply to Cadillac. But too many have not yet personally found out why.

If you are among these — come in and see us today. We will give you the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac — and you'll know in a single hour why Cadillac has its own vocabulary.

You'll know, from personal experience, that when you speak of "prestige" and "distinction" and "luxury" and "pride of possession" and "value" — you are speaking of the Standard of the World.

We have the keys — and the car — and a real welcome waiting for you.

Roberts Keeps Phillies Out Of NL Cellar

Robin Responsible For 8 Of 19 Wins Chalked By Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

So long as Robin Roberts wins 20 or more games a season, the Philadelphia Phillies will stay out of the National League cellar. Robin has won 20 or more the past five years and 1955 will be no exception if he continues at his present pace.

The Phillies have won just 19 games as they ride along in seventh place, and Roberts has won eight of them, including a neat six-hit 3-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night.

The Michigan State alumnus had only a 3-3 record on May 7, but in less than a month, he has won five games and shows a fine 2.30 earned run average.

The only teams he hasn't beaten are St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The Phils themselves seem to be snapping out of the doldrums. They've won 9 of their last 11 games, and, although, they are just above the Pittsburgh Pirates in the standings, they are only four games behind the third place New York Giants.

After the Phils scored two runs in the fourth, it was merely a matter of Roberts protecting the lead, which he did with no particular trouble. Ernie Banks hit a home run for the Cubs in the fifth for their only run.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Milwaukee Braves, 11-8; the Redlegs whipped the New York Giants 5-2, and the Cardinals slapped down the Pirates, 6-2.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians shut out the Baltimore Orioles, 5-0; the New York Yankees won a doubleheader from the Kansas City A's, 3-1 and 6-1; the Chicago White Sox edged the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, and the Detroit Tigers blanked the Washington Senators, 9-0.

Duke Snider was the big gun in the Brooklyn victory, hitting three home runs and narrowly missing No. 4. His fourth try hit the right field screen and he had to settle for a double. Once before, Snider hit three home runs and just missed a fourth. He now has 15 home runs for the season.

Neither starter—Carl Erskine of the Brooks nor Gene Conley of the Braves—was around at the finish what with all the bombarding.

The Redlegs got one of their rare well pitched games and aided by home runs by Ted Kluszewski and Roy McMillen, had no trouble with the Giants. Joe Nuxhall held Leo Durocher's men to five hits. Nuxhall had a four-hit shutout until the ninth when Willie Mays hit a homer with Don Mueller on base.

Lois Arroyo tossed his sixth victory against no defeats for the Cards. Arroyo was backed by a 12-hit attack. Ken Boyer and Bill Virdon each collected three hits for the winners.

The Orioles didn't have a chance against Early Wynn. The Cleveland ace set them down with four hits. The Tribe is 3½ games behind the Yanks. Cleveland scored three times in the first inning and from there on it was a cakewalk for Wynn, although Al Smith hit an insurance home run with one on in the second.

Johnny Kucks stopped the A's in the first game for the Yanks, although he needed help from Tom Morgan in the ninth, and Whitey Ford went all the way in the second game. Neither team got a hit until the sixth inning of the opener. Irv Noren singled home Andy Carey to break it up in the ninth. Carey had a three-run homer in the nightcap.

Ted Williams went hitless in four trips to the plate in the Boston loss to Chicago. Sherman Lollar produced the big blow for the Pale Hose, a three-run homer. But they still needed a single by Chico Carasquel in the eighth to score the winning run.

Lefty Billy Hoelt tossed his second straight shutout for the crippled Tigers. He held the Senators to only two hits while his mates collected 10 hits. Jack Phillips, substituting for the sore-kneed Ferris Fain at first base got three.

ABC Tournament Ends In 4 Days

PORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress tournament has just four days to go, and, for the first time since May 22 there was a change among the top 10 in one division yesterday.

The change came in the doubles standings when Fred List and Bob Harris of San Antonio hit for 1,293 for fourth place. List hit a 713.

Rookie pitcher Lynn Lovenguth of the Phillies is nicknamed "Little Giant" because of his 5-foot-10 inch, 170-pound frame.

Early Wynn Off To His Best Start

CLEVELAND (AP)—Early Wynn is off to the best start of his career with the Cleveland Indians.

The burly righthander, who got a late start because of sickness, won his sixth victory against a single loss last night, giving up just four hits while beating Baltimore's Orioles, 5-0.

Wynn had a no-hitter going until Eddie Waitkus singled with two out in the sixth.

Hal Smith and Jim Pyburn singled against him with two down in the seventh but Wynn got Willie Miranda to pop out.

Waitkus got Baltimore's other hit after Cal Abrams walked in the eighth, but Gene Woodling ended that threat by fouling to Al Smith at third.

Smith belted his eight home run of the year after Wynn walked in the second.

The other three Cleveland runs came in the first inning when Smith walked, Bob Avila, Al Rosen and Dave Pope and Dave Phillips singled.

The loss was charged to Erv Palica and was his sixth against two victories.

Despite winning, the Indians dropped another half game behind the league-leading New York Yankees who won a doubleheader from Kansas City. The Tribe is now three games back of the Yanks and 1½ games ahead of third place Chicago.

In Memoriam

Mary Emma Oyster was born in McArthur, Ohio, in the year of 1853 on May 26. She departed this life on June 2, 1955, at the age of 101 years. A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home, which never can be filled. Dearest Mother you have left us. Never shall we forget your face. Sweetest thoughts will ever linger. Round the grave where you are laid. Her suffering and her pain. Her sorrows are no more. But we shall meet beyond the River. On that bright and happy shore. Sadly missed by her daughters, Mrs. Nevada Bowen, Mrs. Laura Nesbitt and Grandchildren.

NEW FLOOR CARE
GIVES WAX THE AIR
Throw away the floor wax, ma'am. Here's something better. Glaxo, a tip-top coating for linoleum or asphalt tile, covers kitchen floors with a water-clear finish that dries in one hour and lasts for months.

Easy to apply, Glaxo gives a high-luster, non-slip surface that wears and wears. You actually save money over wax — and you keep your colorful floor shiny bright.

Babe Ruth Era Ended Just 20 Years Ago

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty years ago today an era ended, Babe Ruth hung up his spikes for good.

He had played his last game May 30 against the Philadelphia Phillies. He went to bat only once and did nothing, so he retired to the clubhouse. That was the last time the Babe's name appeared in a major league box score.

He was with the Boston Braves at the time as vice-president, assistant manager and sometimes player.

His sight was failing and he was hitting only .181 when the end came. It came slowly, though.

It wasn't until three days later, June 2, that Ruth officially ended his baseball career and he was beaten to the punch.

Officially, he quit. But he admitted later that he was fired by Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves.

Standing in the clubhouse, he told a boy to ask Fuchs to come see him. He told the boy to inform Fuchs he was quitting. He had gone as far as he could.

A few minutes later, some newsmen trooped into the clubhouse and Babe asked them what was up. They said they were sorry and he asked them why.

They told him he had been fired.

"So I got fired before I could quit," he said later.

Snider Almost Matches Record

BROOKLYN (AP)—Two yards of chicken wire was all that prevented Duke Snider from joining the select group of seven sluggers who have hit four home runs in one game.

The center fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers had to settle for three homers and a double as the Dodgers defeated Milwaukee Braves 11-8 last night.

Snider walloped three homers, one each off southpaw Roberto Vargas and righthanders Gene Conley and Ernie Johnson. Against lefthander Chet Nichols in the eighth inning, Duke lined a pitch to the screen in right, just six feet short of his fourth homer.

AA Top Division Continues Gain

ST. PAUL (AP)—The rich got richer and the poor got poorer last night in the American Association as the league's three top teams downed second division clubs.

First place Minneapolis spanked its twin city rival, St. Paul, 8-3 while second running Toledo outslugged Charleston 11-7. Omaha downed Denver 5-4 on Gerry Thomas' homer in the last of the ninth.

Louisville, the only first division club to lose, dropped to fourth place when they lost a 5-3 decision to Indianapolis.

Ohio All-Star Baseball '9' Picked For 3-Tilt Series

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sixty high school baseball players, 10 from each district, were named today to participate in the first annual east-west all-star three-game series in Columbus June 30 and July 1.

The series is being sponsored by the Ohio High School Baseball Coaches Assn., and the players and six mentors will be housed and fed at the Ohio State Stadium Club rooms.

Players from the northwest, central and southwest districts will make up the western squad, with the eastern all-stars coming from the northeast, southeast and east-central sectors. The teams report here June 26, and have one game scheduled the night of June 30 and two the night of July 1, in the International League stadium of the Columbus Jets.

Willie Pep Hailed As Great Sport

BOSTON (AP)—Willie Pep the boxer today was hailed as Willie Pep the sportsman as a result of his fourth round technical knockout of Joey Cam of East Boston.

Pep opened an inch and a half gash over Cam's left eye midway of the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder here last night, then danced away to avoid hitting his bleeding opponent.

The 2,486 fans on hand roared approval of Pep's gesture which was seen also by a national television audience.

Murder Trial Is Delayed Again

McCONNELSVILLE (AP)—Another postponement, until next Monday, has been announced in the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Frances Sloan.

The trial of Mrs. Sloan, 28, accused of slaying her 16-year-old nephew, Kenneth Strohl, recessed last Friday until Tuesday. Then illness of Common Pleas Judge Carlos Reicker, suffering from a virus infection, caused postponement until Thursday of this week. The postponement until Monday then was announced because of Judge Reicker's condition.

Romulo Urges U.N. Charter Change

AKRON (AP)—Gen. Carlos P. Romulo says the United Nations charter must be tailored to fit the new shape of the atomic world.

The Philippine soldier-statesman and former president of the UN General Assembly spoke before 300 United World Federalists here.

Two months after the UN charter was signed, he said, "the atom bomb was set off in Hiroshima. It is logical that there must be a resolution in thinking comparable to the atomic revolution."

Pelt will be Walnut's delegates to the convention. Riegel is president and Van Pelt vice-president of the Walnut Chapter.

Hugh Coffman, Walnut FFA advisor, will accompany the group to Columbus. The judging contest is sponsored by the State Department of Education and the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University.

All meetings will be held on the OSU campus.

More than 11,500 other boys enrolled in vocational agriculture in Ohio high schools and members of the local Future Farmers of America chapters, will be looking forward to earning a place on one of the judging teams or acting as official delegate. There are 345 Future Chapters in Ohio's high schools, according to R. M. Eymann, state director of education.

Warren Weiler, state supervisor of vocational agriculture for the state education department, said that the highlight of the convention will be the conferring of the State Farmer degrees. He added that a feature of this year's meeting will be the recognition of men who have made FFA Camp Musingum possible.

Approximately 235 Future Farmers were selected from more than 500 applicants to receive the State Farmer degree, according to D. R. Purkey, executive secretary-treasurer of the Ohio association.

Dr. B. L. Stradley, vice president in charge of student activities at OSU, will welcome the group to the banquet Thursday evening.

General management of all events in the three-day program is under the supervision of Weiler and Dr. Ralph Bender, head of the Department of Agricultural Education at OSU. The judging contests will be in charge of E. O. Bolender, F. J. Ruble and the vocational agricultural supervisory staff of OSU.

Convention activities are in charge of D. R. Purkey and J. E. Dougan, of the state department of education.
